this side of the border he has the protection of

State Department at his request, following the delivery of a copy of the President's ultimatum

The departure of the Spanish party was made without noticeable demonstration, and although

a considerable number of Secret Service officers and police were on duty at the station, there

more than keeping back a crowd of curious onlookers. At 6 o'clock this evening Senor Polo made a hurried call at the French Embassy and the Austrian Legation, which have taken charge of Spanish interests, and then joined his staff at the Legation and started for the train. An express wagon was piled high with trunks. Just before the departure from the Legation the Austrian Minister, Baron von Hengenmüller,

words of indignity were spoken, and the saluta-able than otherwise. He smiled in acknowledgement of the attention given to him, and several times touched his hat. He wore a brown tweed suit and a soft felt travelling hat. Following him came Senor Pablo Soler, First Secretary of the Legation, Senor Acquaront, second secre tary: Sefiors Pla and Almeida, attachés: Captain

De La Casa, military attaché, and Lieutenant against this every spark of Spanish loyalty would be aroused. He continued:

It is no longer a question of retaining Cuba. That was merely a question of territory. Now a higher purpose is in view—the honor and dignity of Spain—since the United States has contemptuously ordered Spain to vacate Cuba, and has made the infamous charge that we are responsible for the murder of the poor men of the Maine. These orders and charges are made with a kick of the boot, and against such action Spain will resist to the uttermost. There should be no mistake about this. History has recorded that even the legions of Napoleon, with nearly 400,000 men, bearing the triumphs of all Europe, were halted and retired from Spain after those legions had lost between 200,000 and 300,000 men. We recognize the gallantry of the American Navy and the notable heroes of its past—Paul Jones, Farragut, Porter—but Spain, too, has her heroes, and their blood is in the veins of those now called upon to defend her honor. I speak after recently talking with my naval associates, commanders of Spanish ships and of torpedo-boats, and I know that there is but one sentiment, namely, that not one Spanish ship shall be taken. Your Navy may send some of them to the bottom; superior forces may seek to annihilate them; but not one Spanish ship will surrender to the American Navy. With honor at stake, that will be the response of the navy of Spain.

Lieutenant De Carantha spoke with great earnestness, and his statement was taken in notes and authorized.

HE DEMANDS HIS PASSPORTS.

The departure of the Spanish party brought to a close an eventful day at the Legation. At 11:20 o'clock the Minister received from the State Department a copy of the ultimatum, and immediately demanded his passports in the following letter:

Washington, D. C., April 20, 1898.

Mr. Secretary: The resolution adopted by the Congress of the United States of America and approved to-day by the President is of such a nature that my permanence in Washington becomes impossible, and obliges me to request you the delivery of my passports. The protection of the Spanish interests will be intrusted to the French Ambansador and to the Austro-Hungarian Minister. On this occasion, very painful to me, I have the honor to renew to you the assurances of my highest consideration.

POLITICIANS WERE AT WORK It is understood that information has reached District-Attorney Marcan that certain politicians of prominence attempted to control the March Grand Jury, first through political prejudice. Most of the members of the Grand Jury were Republicans, and the report is that an effort was made to persuade them not to in-quire into charges made against the Republican office-holders.

Tone the Ecolevine conter-doornal.

There is no more reason why a Democrat should be for a grainst recognition than for a Republican for a goldbug than for a silverite. The question of recognition is a departable one from various standpoints, but not from that of party alone, and there can be no possible reason outside of politics why the two parties should now be arrayed against each other on that question. office-holders.

Thomas Edwards, foreman of the Grand Jury, is the man who, it is said, headed off this attempt. Edwards himself is a Republican, but he demanded that the Grand Jury do its full duty as citizens, irrespective of party affiliajust before his death. Mr. Marean said he had no jurisdiction in such a case.

The Grand Jury list from which the name of Frederick G. Isles was drawn in March was made up last year by the Committee of Jurors of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen. All the Aldermen and clerks were at liberty to suggest any names that they might desire to have go on the list, and as Isles was secretary to the City Clerk it is believed his name was put on the list at his own suggestion. Isles and Winant were not only acquainted because of their long association under the City Clerk, but they are members of the same secret order. For that reason the friends of Winant are exceedingly bitter against Isles.

A NOBLE UNDERTAKING.

NO WAR SPIRIT FOR WAR'S SAKE.

From The Pittsburg Dispatch. From The Pittsburg Dispatch.

There is in the United States no war spirit for war's sake. But there is an abiding faith in the justice of the country's cause and an abundant willingness to support it. The demand has not been for hurrying to the slaughter, but for an early reaching of the poal of peace and liberty—which can only be when Spain's tyrant land has been forever lifted from the fairest of its possessions.

From The Richmond Dispatca.

The vital consideration is that the resolutions—the command for the issuance of an ultimatum—crystallized the issue on the side of the United States. It burned all diplomatic bridges behind us. It was, in effect, a declaration of war against Spain. It is true that, despite this, it still rests with Spain whether there shall be peace or war. Yet we hardly regard peace as within the range of possibility. From The Richmond Dispatch. CONGRESS AND THE PEOPLE.

From The Lewiston Journal Now that we are embarked on a definite policy, it is profitless to argue that this, that or the other course of procedure would have been wiser. What we have done is on record. What we are to do must be in obellence to the mandate of Congress as interpreted by a wise Executive. A united people now stands for the execution of the will of Congress and the order of the Executive.

If an American army of occupation lands in Cuba, it will go there to prevenet cruelties, to restore peace and order, and to enable the people of the island to establish a stable, free and independent government of their own. This is a noble undertaking, and ought to have the moral support of the whole civilised world.

From The Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune does not care whether the "republic of Cuba" is or is not recognized. Neither do the people. There are some excellent reasons why that "skeleton of a government," as General Lee calls it, should not be recognized. There would have been no serious demand made for that recognition if scampish politicians had not fancied that they could worry the Republicans and perhaps disorganize them by raising that issue.

informed Magistrate Eristow that Mr. Weich was engaged on an important case before the Supreme Court and asked that the examination be postponed for a week.
